Notice is hereby given that the assessment roll in and for Lincoln county for the year 1909, has been delivered to me by the assessor; and the same is now in my office for the inspection of any and all caring so to do.

The board of county commissioners of Lincoln county, Nevada, will meet as a board of equalization on Monday, the 20th day of September, 1909, and will continue in session from time to time until the first Monday in October, 1909, unless otherwise ordered as is provided by law.

WM. E. ORR,
County Clerk and ex-Officio Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners.

Sometimes when you meet a book-girl don't you wish she were a little more newspapery?

The only difference between the ferry hack and the ordinary hack is in the wheels of the ordinary hack and a better living for their owner.

If a office boy who has been negotiating his employer's business has his best argument, that he has been looking after the King's business.

When a moving picture singer asks audience to join in the chorus he is always be accommodated if for other reason than to drown his voice.

COURTESY IN THE STREET CAR.

Something of a Reversal of the General Rule.

"Do you suppose that's an effect of the recent agitation of women's rights?" asked the man, indicating with a nod of his head a woman that was taking place in an "L" car in the homeward rush. His companion looked and saw a slender, handsomely gowned woman offer her seat to a young man who, in the crush, was standing in front of her and was carrying an armful of large, heavy books.

The young man looked rather embarrassed and bravely declined with a pleasant little smile, which was all he could accomplish in lieu of raising his hat with his heavily incumbered hands.

"Well, then," said the lady composedly, resuming her seat, "let me hold the books in my lap."

"That would certainly be kind, if you don't mind," consented the youth, relinquishing his load; and when the lady reached her station, leaving her seat to him, he thanked her for her thoughtfulness with fully as much gratitude as a woman would have expressed for a similar courtesy from a man—perhaps with more appreciation, the experience being more rare.

SAYS THE GENTLE CYNIC.

Nuisances never abate themselves.

If a boy earns ten cents he wants it; he is not willing to trust the richest man alive.

"Haste makes waste" is an old motto, but a lazy one. You've really got to hurry to keep up.

About the dullest man on earth is the one who is forever writing to the newspapers about what our forefathers did.

When you lose a hundred dollars your friend says he is sorry, but it is impossible for him to be as sorry as you are.

The men wear some mighty homely hats, but it can, at least, be said for the men that they never claim their headgear came from Paris.

It is all right to rave about Grecian noses in poetry, but the nose to admire, in common, every-day experience, is the nose that is kept out of other people's business.

Resentment.

"Does you charge 30 cents for dat little box o' strawberries?" asked Aunt Hannah, superciliously.

"Yes," answered the grocer.

"An' it 'ud take about a thousan' of dem berries to make one ten-cent watermelon! I doesn't mind de price, but I does hate sech impudence!"—Washington Star.

Nowadays a brave man's adventures all take place in his pocketbook.

On some men opportunity never calls except to leave P. C. cards.

Great love has made great sacrifices, which it required a greater love to accept.

The barriers which no man can break down are those which he erects around himself.

The heart never has room for so much more as when it is filled to bursting with love.

Life's cruellest sarcasm consists in giving the great things to those who only ask for the less.

There are many splinters on the Ladder of Life which nobody notices till he begins to slide down.

The impression which most men get of Love is something like that they have of the gun that wasn't loaded.

The fact that necessity is the mother of invention probably explains why gossip is the parent of slander—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.
